

Things to Do During the Day at The Okie-Tex Star Party Updated September 15, 2026

The area around Kenton, OK, has many things to see and do that many don't know about. Because we have been at OTSP many times and explored the area, we've found many places that are of interest.

Where possible, telephone numbers have been included. If you decide to go to one of the places, it is best if you call to verify hours, location and any fees that might be charged. Colorado and New Mexico are in the Mountain Time Zone. Kansas, Texas and Oklahoma are in the Central Time Zone.

Drive times and distances are approximate. It is best that you start any of these adventures with a full tank of gas and some bottles of water. Sunglasses and a hat are recommended.

We have been to the places marked with an asterisk (*).

On Google Maps, Camp Billie Joe is known as Black Mesa Bible Camp.

We found a place in Boise City which is a Self-Service Car Wash. Our car always gets plenty of dust and bugs on it during our exploring of the area. The location of the car wash is easy to find. Coming into town from Camp Billie Joe you will be on Main Street. Continue through the "traffic circle" about 3 blocks to Main and Murray. The Car Wash is on the Southwest Corner of Main and Murray. The price to wash is $1 (4 quarters) per cycle. It took 3 cycles to get my car clean – a soak to soften up the bugs, a brush cycle to scrub the bugs off and soaping of the entire car, a finish soaping then rinse of the entire car. I go to a bank before coming to OTSP and get a roll of quarters, $10, to have when I use this car wash. (I can always spend the remaining on something else on the way home.) It was worth it to have a fairly clean car to drive home. The sign has been repaired! On the north side of Main Street you will see a store, Moore's Food Pride which is almost across the street from the Car Wash.

K-T Boundary

There are several ways to get to Trinidad, NM. The shortest drive time, 2:25, but longest distance, 147 miles, is via Clayton, NM. If you take this route, you will go near the Capulin Volcano National Monument. The longest drive time, 2:34, but shortest distance, 116 miles, is via NM-456.

My suggestion is to use Google Maps, <https://www.google.com/maps/> and enter Kenton, OK as the starting location and Trinidad Lake State Park as the destination. Then look over the three routes and pick what interests you.

Once you have picked your route, near the end you will be on I-25. You will need to take exit 11 to County Rd 69.1 to the intersection with County Rd 18.3. Follow County Rd 18.3 to the intersection with CO-12 west to the Park Visitor's Center on Trinidad Lake State Park Rd..

- At the visitor's center you will have to pay the Daily Vehicle Pass fee of $10 (at the time I put this together.) Pick up a trail brochure and let them know you are there for the K-T Boundary.
- Drive back to the park entrance and take Hwy 12 west for 5.1 miles.
- Turn left at a brown sign that says "Long's Canyon Viewing Area and cross the bridge.
- This will be again on County Rd 18.3. Continue on 18.3 to the parking area. There is a well-marked trail to the KT Boundary and about a ¼ mile hike to the KT Boundry.

Dry Cimarron Scenic Drive

You can start this trip from Raton, NM and end in Kenton, OK.

As you drive to Raton, the quickest route is through Clayton, NM. After Clayton is the small town of Capulin that has an extinct volcano. You might want to take the time to drive up and see the impressive view before continuing to Raton.

- From Raton, NM head east along Hwy 72 to Yankee, NM then to Folsom, NM on Hwy 72, about 40 miles and 60 minutes of driving.
- While not part of the Dry Cimarron Scenic Drive, to get back to Kenton, add this to today's adventure:
 - From Folsom take Hwy 456, the Dry Cimarron Hwy to Kenton, OK and the OTSP, about 60 miles and 90 minutes of driving.

Below is a description of what you might see from the New Mexico Magazine's website.

The Route: Northeast New Mexico is more prairies than peaks, but several distinctive geographical features enliven the landscape. Set out from Raton and travel east along NM 72. After 10 miles, the 14-mile-long tabletop of Johnson Mesa is the first landmark you'll cruise past. A few spent volcanic cones (such as Towndrow Peak and Red Mountain) attest to the region's explosive past, epitomized by nearby Capulin Volcano National Monument, whose 8,000-foot-high bowl rises to the southeast. It's a perfect place to appreciate the states vast scale: Across this stretch, all is mountains, plains, and sky. And perhaps the occasional quizzical cow ruminating on the short-grass canvas. Near the drive's conclusion, the highway traces the Dry Cimarron River, from which the route took its name.

The Stop: Along the way, you'll pass the Folsom Man Archaeological Site, where Paleo-Indian hunters used distinctive weapons, later known as Folsom points, to slay bison. The discovery of the bones and arrows led archaeologists to revise their estimates of man's presence on the continent, a process that's detailed in the Folsom Museum, housed in the white-clad Doherty Mercantile.
